The European Community Regulation on chemicals and their safe use (REACH)

As regards REACH Solar is considered as a distributor and supplier of goods. This demands that we pass on information concerning each product of our range of products containing substances (of a quantity higher than 0.1 weight percentage) listed in the European Chemicals Agency candidate list.

Our products can in exceptional cases contain substances that are listed in the candidate list. To the extent that these products contain more than 0.1 weight percentage of such substances, we will inform about it. Some of these substances in the candidate list can have been made liable to approval, but as to our goods that are defined as an article, this circumstance does not change our obligation of informing our customers about the contents of these substances, if any. To the extent that our products are manufactured in Europe, a substance listed in the approvals list and having had a "sunset date", acc. to the REACH regulation article 56 will only occur, if approval from the EU-commission has been granted.

The products distributed by Solar that contain substances listed in the European Chemicals Agency candidate list are enclosed here in PDF format

Solar's product list is updated regularly when the product range or the European Chemicals Agency candidate list are updated. Please, notice that the same product might appear several times in the list, if the product contains several substances.

Solar is performing it's obligations as to informing about the REACH regulation article 33. Several of the substances from the candidate list will be appearing on appendix 14 and thereby be included in the approval procedure.

Solar refers to the fact that these statements solely are due to information from our suppliers, thus we renounce liability for damages concerning the accuracy and the completeness of these statements.

To the extent the supplier has worked out a REACH document on a product, this is available as a link in Solar Webshop. By writing the article no. you can open the product description and here find the document link as an information icon.

If you have questions concerning our work with REACH you are welcome to contact our Master Data department at masterdata@solar.dk
